

Sentence Level Work

"That 'ere young lady,' replied Sam, "She knows wot's wot, she does". ('Pickwick Papers' , by Charles Dickens

Year 6

I know the different word classes.

I can write sentences again in a different way.

I can adapt a text for a different audience.

I can identify active and passive verbs.

I can use a variety of connecting words and phrases

I can use colons and semi-colons.

I can use dashes, commas and brackets.

I can identify the key features of formal language.

I know what 'conditionals' are and how to use them.

I can write reports.

I can write instructional texts (instructions, directions).

I can write persuasively.

I can express an argument in writing.

I can explain something in writing.

I can carry out a language investigation.